

Danielle Owczarski Bio: Danielle's appreciation and respect for nature began at a young age; originally from North Adams, Massachusetts, she grew up exploring the hills of the Berkshires and hiking Mount Greylock. Deciding in 2003 that she wanted to broaden her knowledge of the natural world, she moved to Vermont and attended Johnson State College, earning a degree as a Field Naturalist. Danielle currently spends her days working as a ski patroller at Smugglers Notch Resort in the winter and a Environmental Technician for the State of Vermont during the summer months. She previously worked for the U.S. Forest Service in Oregon, as well as for Vermont State Parks. While working at Green River Reservoir State Park, Danielle published a Natural Field Guide and was responsible for a photographic inventory of the park's flora. She has a keen eye for detail and an insatiable thirst for natural history.
